THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA

The University was founded by Benjamin Franklin and traces its origins to 1740. Although it carries the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, "Penn," as it is commonly known, is not a state university. One of eight universities that comprise the Ivy League, it is a private, coeducational, and nondenominational institution. Among its achievements are: the first medical school in the American colonies; the world's first collegiate business school; and the world's first electronic, large-scale, general-purpose digital computer.

HISTORY OF WHARTON

Today we gather at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, an institution that was a remarkable innovation when Joseph Wharton, a self-educated 19th-century industrialist, first proposed its establishment 134 years ago.

Wharton believed the role of business was to advance society as a whole, creating new wealth and economic opportunity for all people. He approached the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania in 1880 to establish a new kind of institution specifically designed to prepare leaders for business and public service.

His suggestion was a radical one, but also remarkably prescient. With the admission in 1881 of the first class of students—just 13 undergraduates—Joseph Wharton and the University of Pennsylvania created a successful formula that forever changed the landscape of business and education. Now, more than 1 million students graduate each year from more than 13,000 graduate and undergraduate business programs around the world.

The Wharton School remains a leader in business education through a steadfast commitment to our founder's vision of applying unparalleled intellectual resources to prepare young men and women for leadership in the global society.

Our faculty is comprised of leading scholars in every field of business, and the Wharton curriculum utilizes the latest teaching methods, as well as learning tools created on this campus. Our broad-ranging expertise reaches millions of people through our degree programs; services to executives; our online publication, Knowledge@Wharton, which is available free in English, Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese and Arabic; and our e-book publishing arm, Wharton Digital Press.

We are engaged in active, transformative partnerships with the world's leading companies and policy-makers. Our 92,000 alumni hold positions of responsibility in business, government, public service, social and cultural entities, and education in 140 countries.

The members of the Class of 2014 are the direct heirs to Joseph Wharton's great vision. We celebrate their achievements and are confident they will follow in the footsteps of their predecessors as the next generation of enlightened business leaders.

Wharton alumni bring thoughtful leadership and exponential change to global industries.

THE POWER OF WHARTON KNOWLEDGE

Today you complete your Wharton degree, and you join a worldwide Wharton community—an ever-expanding alumni network that is one of the largest, most dynamic and most influential of any business school on the planet.

As a Wharton graduate, you know that business evolves rapidly and that effective leaders continue learning over their lifetimes. Our goal is to bring those in the Wharton community together throughout the course of their careers for relevant and compelling educational experiences. Indeed, lifelong learning is a powerful force that can help you resolve the challenges and seize the opportunities ahead.

While at Wharton you learned that knowledge fuels action, that innovation transforms business, and that business must be a force for good in the world. Our hope is that you use these core principles to guide you for the rest of your lives.

On behalf of the faculty and staff at Wharton, I congratulate you on this major achievement and look forward to celebrating your triumphs ahead.

Thomas S. Robertson

THE RED AND THE BLUE

Words by Harry E. Westervelt (College Class of 1898)

Come all ye loyal classmates now,
In hall and campus through,
Lift up your hearts and voices
For the royal Red and Blue.

Fair Harvard has her crimson,
Old Yale her colors too,
But for dear Penn-syl-van-i-a
We wear the Red and Blue.

Hur-rah! Hur-rah! Penn-syl-van-i-a!

• ▶ • ▶ •

Hur-rah for the Red and the Blue!
